Crash girl's mum blasts jail sentence

Biker who left pillion passenger for dead gets just 18 months

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A MOTHER has spoken of her disgust after the man who left her daughter dying in a road was sentenced to only 18 months in prison.

Doctors feared the worst as Sally Weeks lay in a coma at Milton Keynes Hospital after a good Samaritan found her bleeding in Simpson Road, Walton Park, at 5.15pm on August 23.

Moments earlier David Redford had smashed a Honda motorbike into a parked BMW at 70mph and fled the scene.

Sally had been travelling on the back of the bike.

The mother-of-two, from The Hyde, Netherfield, is now undergoing treatment at a rehabilitation centre and will need 24-hour care for the rest of her life.

At Huntingdon Crown Court last Wednesday, Recorder Martin Oldham sentenced Redford to 18 months behind bars and disqualified him from driving for 10 years.

Redford, 28, of Farthing Grove, Netherfield, had earlier admitted failing to stop at an accident and driving the vehicle without the necessary insurance or licence.

Speaking exclusively to MK NEWS, Sally's mother, Janice Weeks said: "It's a joke, I'm totally disgusted.

"He should have got at least five years for this. He left her in the road for dead. He didn't even call an ambulance. The doctors told us to expect the worst."

Before the case was committed to Huntingdon, Sally's family listened to evidence from the prosecution at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court.

The prosecutor said that the bike had been travelling on the wrong side of the road and that Redford had shown deliberate disregard for himself and others. At that point, Sally was being kept alive by a ventilator.

Police traced Redford to a friend's address in the Lakes Estate, suffering a broken leg, and found his clothing dumped in a disused quarry.

Throughout the case Redford maintained that Sally was his best friend and was concerned for her condition.

His defence, Mr Usmani, said: "This is probably one of the most depressing cases I've ever come across."

Doctors still do not know the extent of the damage caused to Sally's brain. She now has five metal plates in her head, her left eye is permanently damaged, she can not move her left arm and has to use a wheelchair.

Her brother, Roger, said: "The sentence seems totally ridiculous. You leave someone for dead and you could be out of prison in nine months if you behave."

In September the Weeks family made an appeal for the good Samaritan who helped Sally to come forward, but without success.

Santa Claus is already in town and two lucky MK NEWS readers had the chance to meet him. Find out what he has been up to on page 7

Council is set to ask developers to scrap city streets

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE council has begun discussions with developers on scrapping plans for 'city streets' in the Western Expansion Area.

The council bowed to pressure to reconsider constructing high streets with buildings fronting the road and traffic lights last week after two citizen's groups called for the grid roads to be protected and extended into the expansion areas.

The Focus Group on Roads (FGoR) and the Citizen's Advisory Group on Transport, which both consisted of a panel of residents, were set up by the council to consider the future of Milton Keynes' transport networks.

CaGOT commissioned an independent survey of local residents that revealed 87 per cent of the city's citizens believe the grid roads work.

Cllr Isobel McCall, leader of Milton Keynes Council, announced last week that the economic downturn and the resulting delays to the Western Expansion Area (WEA) open a window of opportunity for the council to enter into talks with the developer to see if they would be willing to alter the layout to 'one more in keeping with the aspirations of MK residents'.

> The issue of the nature of the roads serving the development area has been raised and the developers have been made aware of the findings of the CAGOT report
> – Cllr Isobel McCall, leader of Milton Keynes Council

This week, Cllr McCall said council officers have met developers to start discussions on the future timings of the development.

"The issue of the nature of the roads serving the development area has been raised and the developers have been made aware of the findings of the CAGOT report," she said.

"Further meetings will take place where the issue will be discussed in more detail."

However, she warned that planning permission has already been granted for the proposals which the council has no power to withdraw, so it can only see if the WEA developer would be willing to reconsider.

Couple lived the high life on proceeds of benefits scams

A COUPLE fraudulently claimed thousands of pounds in benefits while living a jet set lifestyle.

Debra and Nicholas Butland, of High Street, Potterspury, Milton Keynes, had at an earlier court hearing pleaded guilty to making false statements to obtain money from public funds totalling more than £88,000.

They had falsely claimed income support, housing benefit, council tax credit, disability living allowance, and carers' allowance.

At Aylesbury Crown Court on Friday Debra Butland received a 32 weeks jail sentence, suspended for 18 months including 12 months probation, for her part in the benefits fraud including obtaining a false passport.

Nicholas Butland was given a 10 weeks jail sentence for making false statements to obtain benefits and also obtaining a false passport but was released as he had already served 46 days on remand (half the sentence).

During a joint investigation by Milton Keynes Council and Department Work and Pensions (DWP), it emerged the couple were running a business called Reform Builders selling land and property in Bulgaria and also owned a house in London worth more than £200,000.

The couple, who had been living at the time at Perran Avenue, Milton Keynes, had failed to declare these assets when claiming a range of benefits.

Further investigation revealed they had been flying regularly between England and Bulgaria on business trips and their bank accounts revealed cash flows of more than £1m.

In total the loss to the public funds was £88,802, made up of £70,190 from DWP benefits and the rest made up of housing and council tax benefits.

In March 2009 a Proceeds of Crime hearing is expected to be heard to see if the money can be repaid back to public funds.

OAP's home hit twice by robbers

ROBBERS targeted a pensioner's home and attacked her daughter twice in a fortnight.

The brutal robberies took place at the home of a 73-year-old woman who is confined to her bed.

The first took place on Friday, October 24, when the woman's daughter was visiting the house, in Fenny Stratford.

At about 6pm the daughter opened the door to a man she did not recognise, asking for a person called Lisa.

When she told him that no one called Lisa lived there, he punched her to the floor before raiding the house for a handbag containing cash and bank cards.

Thirty minutes later one of the cards was used to withdraw £200 from the ATM at HSBC on Queensway, Bletchley.

Police described the culprit as white, 40 to 50-years-old, 5ft 8ins, stocky with a large stomach, fair hair and wearing a chequered shirt with blue jeans.

Two weeks later, on Friday, November 7, the daughter answered the door at 9.30am and was met by two men who asked if she wanted her garden clearing.

Again, she was knocked to the floor and pinned down while one of the men searched the house before fleeing empty handed.

The first man is white, late 20s to early 30s, 5ft 8ins, slim with short fair hair, wearing a blue jacket, jeans and white trainers.

The second man is white, late 20s to early 30s, 5ft 3ins, plump, straight light brown hair which came down to his chin, wearing a red and white stripped hat, red scarf and a beige jacket.

Hooked on MK NEWS: Andy Ford as Smee, Henry Winkler as Captain Hook and Louisa Lytton as Peter Pan

"They stop me in the mall, they stop me in the street, and they say 'Hi Henry, how are you?' like an old friend – it's a wonderful feeling

– Henry Winkler

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

CAPTAIN Hook is here and you might catch him lunching in the city centre surrounded by his pirates.

Henry Winkler was in top form yesterday as he spoke frankly about his forthcoming role in Milton Keynes Theatre's Christmas panto, Peter Pan.

Describing his hectic routine, the 63-year-old said: "When you're in panto you wake up, go to the theatre, do the warm ups, have a show, then I will go to Wagamas and take the pirates with me, come back, have a nap, get my make up on, then do the second show."

Winkler has been playing the villain for three years but his desire for the part is still abundantly clear.

He said: "There is not a better role in panto.

"He is so much fun to play.

"When the light hits the costumes it is magical, truly."

Winkler is best known as The Fonz, from the hit 70s television drama Happy Days, and admits that Fonzie might pop out during the panto.

"I love the Fonz... he introduced me to the world and I loved playing him," Winkler said.

He talked with enthusiasm about his profession and said that one of the greatest musicals ever is Billy Elliott.

"There's something that is so wonderful about the English audience," he said.

"They yell when they're supposed to and they know when they're not, and they have a good time. This is a very tough moment in our financial history and if you're going to spend money to come and see a panto I promise you will get every farthing out of your ticket.

"We tell this beautiful story and there's songs and dance and sword fighting and a crocodile.

"This was an adventure I didn't think I could miss."

While he admitted missing his family, wife, bed and dog, the actor spoke warmly of the response he has received from the public and his co-star, Louisa Lytton (Peter Pan).

He said: "People have been unbelievably lovely to me.

"They stop me in the mall, they stop me in the street, and they say 'Hi Henry, how are you?' like an old friend –-it's a wonderful feeling.

"Louisa is so dear.

"She has Peter in her.

"She is this beautiful woman who is just feisty!"

Finally Winkler admits to one home comfort that he cannot live without in Milton Keynes.

"In my contract one of the few things I ask for is that there is the American sport channel so at one o'clock in the morning I can watch the college football."

On the subject of football MK Dons chairman Pete Winkelman popped down to see Henry, present him with a shirt and invite him, along with the rest of the cast, to next Tuesday's home game against Hereford.

■ MK NEWS is the official newspaper sponsor for this year's panto which starts on December 5 Tickets are on sale now. The panto runs from December 5 to January 18. For information phone 0870 0606652 or contact www.milton-keynestheatre.com

Jury out in Hell's Angel murder trial

THE jury in the trial of a man charged in connection with the shooting of a Hells Angel has retired to consider its verdict.

Malcolm Bull, 53, from Milton Keynes, denies murder and firearms charges alongside five other men.

The six-week trial was held at Birmingham Crown Court.

The court heard Gerry Tobin, a Hells Angel, was targeted by members of rival gang, the Outlaws, when he was shot while riding on his motorbike along the M40 in Warwickshire in August last year.

The thirty-five-year-old biker from south London was on his way home from Bulldog Bash, a Hells Angel festival held in Long Marston, near Stratford-upon-Avon.

A seventh man, from Coventry, has admitted murder and firearms charges.

Mr Bull's full address cannot be published for legal reasons.

The jury retired to consider its verdict as this paper went to press last night.

Rails no good without trains to run on them

SIR – It is indeed good news that Network Rail is to set up its headquarters by Milton Keynes station.

It will hopefully teach it that however much it invests in improved fast lines and signalling if the Government and train companies will not operate a decent service the whole project is undermined.

When new roads are built or motorways are widenend all drivers can use them and receive the benefits, but with the railways it all depends on the trains to be operated.

According to all the recent regional plans Milton Keynes is a transport hub so why are the new train services going to be so poor?

At similar transport hubs such as Reading all the fast services from Paddington to Wales and the West Country stop and at Peterborough all the trains to Scotland and the north stop.

But at the new Milton Keynes station hardly any fast trains will stop and there will be no services to Liverpool and Scotland.

Peterborough is now being connected into the new Thameslink system so some of their local trains will be extended through central London towards Gatwick and Brighton giving them a hugely improved rail service.

But Crossrail is being developed ignoring Milton Keynes and Northampton.

Our local service could easily be extended so that trains would go direct to Paddington, Bond Street, Tottenham Court Road, Farringdon, Liverpool Street, the City, Docklands and places such as Southend and Ipswich.

Instead of making this simple connection 28 of the 48 Crossrail trains each hour will be parked in sidings next to Willesden rather than doing anything useful. Another case of huge investment with no regional vision.

It is a shame that all this planning and development effort is ignored by those developing the railways.

The hugely expensive new stations and platforms at Milton Keynes and Rugby will mainly be used by anoraks watching the Pendolinos whizz straight through.

There should be some joined-up thinking by now, but it seems that Milton Keynes will always be a transport backwater compared with similar places on other main railway lines.

Poetic justice?

SIR – I would like to thank all the residents from the Poets estate in West Bletchley who turned out in driving rain to vote for me last week in the by-election for West Bletchley Parish Council.

I polled 377 votes, while the Labour candidate polled just 138.

I am an ordinary mum of five, and I have never been a member of any political party, but I wanted to make a difference.

People told me that I would never win against the Labour Party machine, but I felt that I needed to stand anyway because it was clear that Poets' residents were not getting a fair deal from Labour-led West Bletchley Council.

My Labour opponent was the wife of ex-Labour leader Nigel Long, and the Labour Party machine went into overdrive trying to get her elected. I couldn't match their money, but I carried on regardless. It was a David and Goliath struggle.

To my surprise, Labour even dragged MP Phyllis Starkey back from Westminster to bang on doors telling residents that I was 'talking nonsense' (I had simply pointed out that the Labour Government is dumping London's rubbish in Bletchley's landfill site).

Labour were clearly desperate, and soon afterwards started removing all references to the word 'Labour' from their leaflets as if they were ashamed of their own party.

Residents told me that Labour is out of touch with their former stronghold of West Bletchley, and their appallingly low vote is testament to this.

Sending Phyllis Starkey out on the doorsteps proved to be something of an own goal for Labour, and doubtless lowered their vote still further.

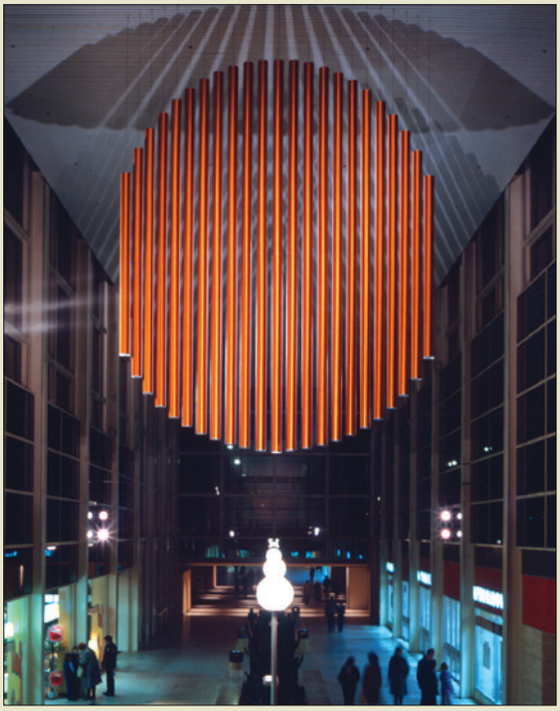
Circle of Light should be rehung in proper setting



SIR – Thank you for publishing the article featuring the Circle of Light in this week's edition.

Its present state is a sad reflection of its former artistic self, especially when viewed in twilight as then one could appreciate its movement and it's reflective shadow.

It could not be fully appreciated when flooded with daylight or artificial light.

I must be one of many MK citizens who miss this artwork and in respect to the artist, Liliane Lijn, the centre staff who maintained it and the two funding bodies who paid for it, I think it should be resurrected and rehung in an appropriate setting.

My husband, Bill Flanagan, ex-centre maintanence manager was in the post during it's installation and worked with Mrs Lijn.

Dawn Flanagan

Frozen in time

SIR – In view of what inevitably follows from listing a building, Simon Thurley should be firmly given the order of the boot.

What flourishing business wants to see its upkeep costs soaring just because it is told, in effect, that it must stay frozen in time architecturally, compelled to use methods and materials from a bygone era?

No-one, not even English Heritage, has any right to put someone out of business by such a procedure.

At the very least, the owners of buildings they want to list should be consulted. Better still, they should have the right of veto.

Every owner should have the right to use whatever materials and methods of upkeep that they find economic to use, regardless of whether such fit the supposed image. If that means UPVC double glazing on an old cottage to keep the heat in, then so be it.

If commercial owners are at risk, then the owners of places of worship are even more vulnerable, since it is no part of their reason for existence to act as curators of what some outsiders claim to be ancient monuments. Admittedly, the church in past ages made a rod for its own back by erecting temple-like buildings, often more for the glory of God than for the needs of a worshipping congregation. But that does not negate my basic argument.

Comment has been made on how listing will affect neighbouring development, usually by effectively prohibiting it.

Again, why should productive businesses be denied the right to site in an area just because a neighbouring building has been listed?

This will have, at least as part of its effects, the result of banishing possible jobs from the area.

... for local people

SIR – May I take the opportunity as a young. proud resident of Milton Keynes to say how great it is to have local candidate Andrew Pakes standing for Milton Keynes NE in the next general election.

As someone who has lived in Milton Keynes all my life I have watched with pride as our great city/town has grown into a massive tourist attraction and continues to develop into a great place for young people like myself to live.

A great city centre for us shopaholics, a growing football club in the MK Dons, a popular Theatre District, the newly developed HUB, an Xscape building that is world renowned and a growing local economy that has benefited young people immensley.

Thus to see Andrew Pakes, originally from Newport Pagnell and a former pupil of Ousedale school, standing as a Labour candidate in Milton Keynes NE is a terrific opportunity for Milton Keynes to send one of its home grown talents into Westminster .

Bang on!

SIR – It's great to see the tradition of the firing of the Fenny Poppers is alive and well.

I now live in Australia but used to rent in Milton Keynes. I saw your picture of the Poppers being fired on your website.

The Poppers are an important historical tribute to Fenny Stratford and long may they continue.

House builds and jobs way off target

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE city has not met its targets for housing and jobs growth and will struggle to make up the shortfall during the credit crunch.

This bleak news of the city's economic situation has been revealed in a business plan for the Milton Keynes South Midlands growth area.

The plan has been drawn up by the ministerial-chaired MKSM inter-regional board, which oversees the area's strategic development to ensure it reaches Government growth targets.

It highlights how the planned growth for the region, equivalent to the size of a major UK city such as Bristol, will be absorbed into its expanding urban centres.

Milton Keynes is meant to provide 20 per cent of this new housing – 44,900 dwellings – by 2031.

The plan says ramping up housing completions over the next few years to meet targets may be compromised by the economic slow down and making up the shortfall will be 'an increased challenge'.

It adds that the city needs to do better to deliver growth in employment, as it is 'performing well below sub-regional, regional and national averages'.

The rate of employment growth in the city is at 0.1 per cent, while the regional average is 0.7 per cent and the national 0.6 per cent.

The city should make up 23 per cent of the region's growth in employment by 2031.

A spokesman for Milton Keynes Partnership, the city's regeneration agency, said the latest figures forecast that this year there will be 606 homes started and 1,430 completed in Milton Keynes.

> We will need to build at a rate of 3,000 homes every year once the recovery is under way if we are to achieve the targets ... this is unrealistic

– Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member for growth and economic development

This will mean more than 1,100 fewer houses started and 130 fewer completed than originally planned for 2008.

"These figures reflect a growing reluctance, mirrored across the UK, for developers to commit to new sites and undertake physical construction until the market improves," the spokesman said.

"Current thinking suggests that the market will begin to stabilise in 2010/11 and return to growth in 2011/12.

"Milton Keynes is still one of the most attractive places for developers to build in the South East and will be well placed to benefit from the upturn in the housing market when it occurs."

Cllr Douglas McCall, cabinet member for growth and economic development at Milton Keynes Council, said the housing targets in the plan are 'unrealistic'.

"Only once, last year, has Milton Keynes actually exceeded the rate of building ahead of the business plan's targets, when we built 2,335 homes," he said.

"We predict that by 2011/2012 we will return to building more than 2,000 homes a year.

"However, we will need to build at a rate of 3,000 homes every year once the recovery is under way if we are to achieve the targets in the MKSM business plan. Again, this is unrealistic."

He said Milton Keynes is feeling the effects of the credit crunch but its natural buoyancy, location, and transport links, together with its 'can do' attitude, means the city is capable of weathering the storm.

A spokesman for Invest Milton Keynes said the effects of tumbling global markets have inevitably had an impact on the job market, but recent reports covering the year-on-year employment growth in the city show a more positive outlook.

An employment survey published in September 2008 showed that compared to 2005 total employment within the Milton Keynes Council area increased by 3.6 per cent, an annual increase of 1.8 per cent.

Figures revealed in Invest Milton Keynes' newly-published annual review for 2007/08 highlight that a 'record number of companies relocated and expanded in the city during the year and that more than 3,000 Milton Keynes jobs were created or safeguarded'.

The spokesman added: "In October 2008 Invest Milton Keynes can report a total of 54 new investment successes, one ahead of this time last year, with a cumulative job figure of 1,369 safeguarded and 773 created.

"Confidence in Milton Keynes is also reinforced with the recent announcement that Network Rail has signed an agreement with Milton Keynes Partnership, committing major investment to Milton Keynes by securing a site for the development of its new, state-of-the-art national centre."

> These figures reflect a growing reluctance for developers to commit to new sites and undertake physical construction until the market improves. Current thinking suggests that the market will return to growth in 2011/12

Mail centre march

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

MORE than 500 people marched through Bletchley in an effort to save the city's mail centre this weekend.

Members of the local branch of the Communication Workers Union (CWU) were joined by supporters from across the country on Saturday.

The union has vowed to continue the fight against Royal Mail's plans, announced on Thursday, to close the mail centre in Dawson Road, Bletchley.

Its processing operations are set to be transferred to a proposed new 'super' state-of-the-art mail centre at junction 15a of the M1 in Northamptonshire from 2010.

The city's mail will be sorted alongside post from Coventry and Northampton.

Royal Mail says the Dawson Road building is no longer fit for a modern mail distribution network as it is not big enough to take in new technology and processing equipment

The union claims the closure will put up to 600 jobs at risk in Milton Keynes.

Paul Moffat, eastern region secretary of the CWU, said the fight is not over as the union will continue to negotiate with Royal Mail on the closure programme, which includes 16 mail centres across the country, and this could lead to industrial action.

"We had superb support for this weekend's rally, which really galvanised our members," he said.

"People came from as far as Scotland, Newcastle and the south west.

"We will do everything we can to retain the processing function in Milton Keynes.

MP Phyllis Starkey spoke at the march, she added: "I am very disappointed that Royal Mail made this announcement the day before the rally, it was calculated to inflame passions.

"It is extraordinary proposing to move the mail centre out of Milton Keynes when we are in a housing growth area and the intention is to be the 10th biggest city in the UK by 2031.

Dennis Murphy, Royal Mail's area general manager, said: "These plans will improve efficiency, give customers better value and provide employees with a more modern environment to work in.

"It will mean changes for our employees, but we have a great track record of managing our people through change."

The review does not affect delivery offices in Milton Keynes which will remain open.

Man lay in front of fast train after leaving hospital

A MAN committed suicide by laying down in front of a high-speed train hours after he walked out of hospital.

Stanley Gould, 29, from Winslow, was killed when he was hit by a train travelling 125mph around one mile north of Bletchley station.

An inquest, held on Monday, heard Mr Gould hid behind a pillar of Spenlows Bridge waiting for a train to come before running out and laying across the tracks.

He had discharged himself from MK Hospital on Saturday, June 3 where he was being treated for an overdose of paracetamol and aspirin and for minor cuts on his wrists.

The inquest heard Mr Gould had recently split up with his long-term girlfriend and had responded badly, returning to their shared address in High Street, Winslow to trash the house and take belongings.

He was admitted to hospital after midnight on Friday, June 2 when his ex-girlfriend Jennifer Casselton called police saying he had come to her with bleeding wrists and claiming he had taken an overdose.

He had a history of depression and self harm and past problems with drug and alcohol abuse.

In hospital he initially refused treatment and repeated that he wished to die.

Coroner Rodney Corner asked medical staff why they did not use their powers under the Mental Health Act to detain him when he walked out of the ward just before 11am on June 3.

Dr Robert Smith, consultant physician, said Mr Gould had been assessed by a psychiatric professional and was found to have no mental illness at the time.

He was considered to have full mental capacity and the ability to make decisions and understand their consequences.

This meant they had to respect his right to refuse treatment.

"People were very concerned and upset about the situation as he was a high risk person to do something self harming but we can't just keep people against their wishes, we have to have due cause to do that," he said.

Mr Gould suffered multiple injuries when he was struck by a Virgin train travelling from London Euston to Liverpool just before 1pm.

His hospital wrist tag was found and his body was identified through finger prints.

Mr Gould, who was born in Aylesbury, worked as a ground maintenance operator.

The jury returned a verdict that he took his own life while the balance of his mind was disturbed.

Santa's in town

Santa waves to the crowds during the Santa Express parade

SANTA Claus has come to town.

Excited children and parents lined the malls of thecentre:mk on Monday to welcome Santa for his annual visit to Milton Keynes.

Santa arrived behind a procession of 60 schoolchildren from Fishermead who created a parade featuring a train with six train carriages and Santa in a final seventh carriage along with the two lucky winners from our exclusive MK NEWS competition, Joseph Piggott, 4, from Monkston and Daniella Prichard, 5, from Tattenhoe.

The procession featured a soundtrack with a choreographed routine from the local Fishermead schoolchildren and stopped in front of the Grotto.

Then Santa, along with our two winners, took a ride on the MK NEWS sponsored Santa's Express around Middleton Hall before officially opening the Grotto and being the first to officially visit him inside.

Santa's Grotto is now open until December 24,

Busker zones tuning in to 'retail theatre'

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

Udo Dolz busking at thecentre:mk

BUSKERS are being encouraged to bring more life to the shopping centre.

Three performance zones can be booked by musical artists and street performers and were launched in thecentre:mk last week.

Regular live music performances are also being brought to Midsummer Place and thehub:mk.

The project is fronted by the founders of the MK Performance Network (MKPN), a website that makes it easy for artists and venues to find each other.

Andrew Hall, director of the network, said he is trying to create Covent Garden-like areas around Milton Keynes so there is always something on around the city such as street theatre, jugglers and circus performers.

"We want to create a really positive ambience around the city centre," he said.

"We are working alongside the shopping centres and we are also looking at the Theatre District, thehub:mk and the railway station."

Artists can get a licence through the performance network to use the busking zones in thecentre:mk, which are currently only available on weekends.

Jackie Tracey, events manager at thecentre:mk said: "As part of an established events programme, thecentre:mk has been endeavouring to provide high quality live music and entertainment to our shoppers for many years.

"However, this takes a vast amount of time and the MKPN offers us instant, easy access to high calibre artists.

"As a result of a short trial MKPN is now providing this important service for us as a complete package and we are now outsourcing our entire performing artist needs for the forthcoming year adding dynamic retail theatre to the shopping experience."

In Midsummer Place the performance network is planning to put on a stage show outside Zavvi twice a month.

The new venue, called Midsummer Music, will be launched during the run up to Christmas with live acts performing on the first three weekends in December.

Bar bill 'top-up' will help young homeless

A CHARITY helping homeless and vunerable young people is to benefit from the support of a city bar restaurant.

The Ark based in Milton Keynes will be backed by The Living Room's Christmas fundraising, Street Smart campaign.

A discretionary donation of £1 will be added to every bill raised at thehub:mk venue between now and December 31 and all money raised will be donated to The Ark.

Sebastian Dolinsky, general manager of The Living Room visited Ark House, which provides full-time residential care for homeless young people.

Sebastian Dolinsky, general manager of The Living Room with three of the young people being helped by The Ark

He said: "I was so moved and inspired by meeting some of the young people being helped and hearing their stories. One young person had lived on the streets for three years from age 14 before she came to live at The Ark. She has now got her life back on track along with countless others thanks to the tremendous work of The Ark.

"It is such a worthwhile cause and I am so pleased that we and our customers, will be able to help."

The Ark provides full-time residential, supportive accommodation in a family environment for seven young people.

In addition, through its Move On programme, it provides accommodation and support for young people aged 16-21 who are more independent and through its outreach service, ensures they have ongoing support until they feel they can cope on their own.

Joy Gibson, development manager of The Ark said: "On behalf of all the young people we help, I would like to express our very grateful thanks to The Living Room for choosing to support The Ark and to all their customers for their generosity."

Focus group zooms in on lack of signposting

A FOCUS group has complained of a lack of signposting around the city.

MK NEWS revealed last month the concerns of city's most influential figures from the world of retail and tourism over newcomers getting lost in the city.

Their worry was about pedestrians navigating between the Hub, shopping centre and railway station without any signs to follow.

The Focus Group of Roads (FGoR), set up to look at the future of highways in Milton Keynes, has released a report that takes issue with the grid roads' poor labelling – saying it is difficult to even find the hospital.

The panel of six city residents was formed by Milton Keynes Council's environment policy development committee in August.

In their report, under the 'what is bad about grid roads' section, they said: 'Road signage – if you want to get to the hospital or major employment area, there are no signs until you are really close to them. For newcomers and visitors, finding their way is difficult. If you are lost, there are no people or shops on the road to stop and ask the way of, and there are no information boards any more.'

Blizzard of fun at Xscape

THE winter season at Xscape blasted off in a blizzard of fun on Friday evening, with drinks, songs, fashion and snow all on the menu in its giant igloo.

Diamond Theatre School serenaded the crowd while models glided down the escalator before stepping onto the igloo's revolving glittery stage.

Xscape also launched its Penguin Adoption Pledge. With the help of visitors they hope to be able to adopt 500 penguins in association with zoos around the country.

A host of other events are planned from now until the New Year centered around the magical igloo stage.

Going mad for Melissa

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A 14-YEAR-OLD singer is attracting fans from across the globe as her music hits radio stations in Germany and Austria.

Melissa Lucas, from Crownhill, is set to compete in the national finals of IDOL 2008 on November 29, at Portsmouth Guild Hall, after beating off thousands of other hopefuls from across the region.

Last year the same talent contest helped Milton Keynes' Bkay & Kazz to make their name.

Melissa's mum, Nicky said: "Now Melissa is being played on German, Austrian and South Tirol radio. When we were on the radio on Sunday she had a myspace fan from Texas call in to say that he stayed up especially to hear her. Things have gone mad!"

Earlier this month Melissa impressed the judges at the London regional finals and even entertained the MK Dons crowd at stadiummk during half time.

She has sponsorship from local T-shirt company, Cotton Craft, and hopes to release her first single, which she has been producing in the recording studio at Oakgrove School where she is studying GCSE music, after Christmas.

Melissa said: "Singing is my passion and I just love performing.

"I really want my music to go far and I want to make it."

Help for Small Businesses

BY SARAH BIDDLE

A City Centre Marketing Company has launched a 50-page guide to help small businesses owners beat the recession.

Immediate Return Marketing, who opened an office in Central Milton Keynes last week, have released the in-depth look at their systems and strategies in a bid to help local firms survive and proposer in the current economic downturn.

"In many businesses, marketing and advertising is seen as a luxury that is hard to afford at the minute" says Adam Naisbitt, the Company's founder.

"The problem is that to survive and even grow in today's climate, marketing needs to be much higher on the agenda"

"We've released this guide to show business owners how they can take a successful DIY approach to marketing their business with little or even no experience or budget"

The guide itself looks at the same systems the Company uses with its clients and breaks them down into a 10-step process that business owners can use in their own businesses to attract more sales, increase their turnover and boost their profitability.

"We've built our business on a very specific approach to marketing, and it's one that we believe in so much that we actually guarantee all of the work we undertake with clients" Adam says

"With this guide we're trying to share those same systems and strategies with business owners in a way that's easy to understand and easy to implement"

The free guide continues in the same vein as the 10 Minute Challenge which the Company launched two weeks ago, promising owners bite-sized strategies they can use to increase their profitability in less than 10 minutes a week.

And Adam promises there's more to come:

"For too long marketing has been about high fees, no promises and technical jargon. We're determined to end that by standing by the work we do and making sure that expert marketing advice and support is an option for every business and every business owner"

"This guide and the 10 Minute Challenge are the first free services we've launched, and in 2009 we're set to unveil many more"

"We're committed to helping small businesses in Milton Keynes succeed. It's something that's very important to us, and this look at our own strategies is a small part of that commitment"

The guide and the 10 Minute Challenge are available for free from www.guaranteedprofit.co.uk. You can also get a copy of the guide by sending an SMS containing your email address and the word GUIDE to 01908 410510

Gong for woman who works with heart attack survivors

A WOMAN who has devoted her life to helping heart attack survivors has been honoured by The Queen.

Gill Robinson, a health promotion specialist at Milton Keynes Primary Care Trust made a special trip to Windsor Castle last Tuesday to receive her MBE from Her Majesty the Queen.

Gill received her award for founding the Milton Keynes Community Cardiac Group (MKCCG) and her services to health and the community in Buckinghamshire.

In 1989, Gill founded the MKCCG as the result of seeing the benefits cardiac patients gained from opportunities to exercise and socialise with their own peer group and realised more could be done.

Gill is currently the group's co-ordinator. She takes part in two of the seven weekly sessions, in her spare time. She is a qualified exercise teacher and counsellor and is very much hands-on working with the group.

> The advantage of the group is that cardiac patients are able to feel 'normal' among their peers. They are able to live the lifestyle that works for them
> – Gill Robinson

She said: "Having a heart attack has a profound effect on a person. Some lose their confidence, while others go into denial about their condition and the changes they need to make to their lifestyle."

Group members are supported to live a full and active life after their heart attack. The group leaders look at the person as a whole, rather than just their heart, so while the patients learn about fitness and healthy eating, they and their family are also able to receive additional support if they need it. The group involves social events, including a walking group, summer outing and a New Year's Dance; there is a lot of laughter and fun.

Gill continues: "The advantage of the group is that cardiac patients are able to feel 'normal' among their peers. Patients are taught to manage their illness, rather than it managing them. They are able to live the lifestyle that works for them."

The group has had many homes in its history, but now has a permanent base, Hinton Hall, Bletchley, which was formally opened by Heartbeat actor Derek Fowlds in 2003.

Gill added: "I would like to thank everyone involved. I have been blessed with many joyous times with all the wonderful people at the group. Seeing patients recover their confidence and engage with others in the group is the best reward."

Dr Nicholas Hicks, PCT chief executive said: "The PCT is very proud of Gill's MBE. The local healthcare community is grateful to Gill and the team at MKCCG for the invaluable support they provide to cardiac patients in Milton Keynes."

Party-thrower fined for being too noisy

A WOMAN has been fined for being too noisy.

In April 2007, several complaints were received by Milton Keynes Council about late night noise from a house in Westfield Road, Bletchley.

A few days later a statutory nuisance noise abatement notice was served on Teresa Kingwell the occupier of the house.

In July 2008 there were further complaints.

An environmental health duty officer visited the area and found a large, very noisy party with music and a public address system which was disturbing the surrounding area.

This was deemed to be a serious breach of the abatement

The case was heard in Milton Keynes Magistrates Court last week where Kingwell pleaded guilty and was fined £150 with costs of £700.

Dr Steve Moorhouse, environmental protection team leader said: "We will not hesitate to take legal enforcement action against the small minority of our citizens who through anti-social behaviour of this type seriously disturb their neighbours."

The lucky winners pictured here all received £100 just for putting out recycling – it's as easy as that. In recent weeks we've been to Newport Pagnell, Browns Wood, Broughton, Emerson Valley, Willen and Beanhill who knows where we'll go next? Free bio bags for residents

NEW residents moving into Eden Court, Aylesbury Street, Bletchley, are being encouraged to do their bit for the environment with a free re-usable bag supplied by McCarthy & Stone.

The biodegradable bag contains a welcome pack of basic groceries such as tea, coffee, sugar and milk. It can then be re-used for residents' own shopping in the nearby local shops.

Residents are also given a copy of a ready-prepared Green Transport Plan, containing detailed information about public transport in the area.

Eden Court is a development of private retirement apartments, specially designed for people aged 60 and over with prices starting from £148,950.

Firm's 'green day' success

Members of the FleetLine team with their wormery

STAFF at a city leasing company got back to nature to celebrate all things green.

FleetLine held its first 'Green Day' aimed at promoting the many green initiatives the company has undertaken including recycling schemes and the introduction of a wormery.

Green Day was also an opportunity to train staff about low-emission vehicles with a dozen demo cars on-site for the day.

All staff were encouraged to test drive the various models in order to be able to provide feedback to their customers around the benefits of such vehicles.

Activities throughout the day included an environmental travel to work initiative with car sharing alone saving over 300 miles of unnecessary travel in one day.

There were green-based quizzes, a raffle and also a dress-down day with staff all wearing items of green clothing. All proceeds raised during the day were donated to a charity in order to purchase trees in sustainable forests in the UK

"Green Day was all about promoting not only what we can do as a company to help the environment, but also to highlight to our staff what they can do outside of work as well.

"We are committed to improving our environmental position and Green Day was just the beginning of an ongoing project to reduce the carbon footprint that FleetLine, our staff and our customers produce."

Arson suspected as house is gutted

BY ROB GIBSON
rob.gibson@mk-news.co.uk

A HOUSE was gutted by fire in a suspected arson attack.

Fire crews were called to a three-storey house in Tolcarne Avenue, Fishermead, at 5.30am last Wednesday as flames tore through the inside.

Four fire engines from stations in Great Holm and Broughton, and the fire investigation dog, Barney, were called in.

Police officers assisted with the evacuation of surrounding houses as a safety precaution and the British Red Cross Fire and Emergency Support Service vehicle also attended.

No one was in the property at the time of the fire and no one has sustained any injuries.

DC Iain O'Kane, leading the investigation, said: "At this time it is still too early to tell whether the fire was started deliberately, but we are treating it as suspicious.

"I am urging for any witnesses who may have seen the fire start or saw anyone acting suspiciously in the area to contact me or Crimestoppers, as your information could be key to the investigation."

DC O'Kane can be contacted on 08458 505505 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Hidden Diamond Buddha is worth £400 to finder

FIRST there were mini blue Buddhas, then shiny golden ones, now it's time for the diamond Buddha.

Since opening in 2007, management at Buddha Blue nightclub have caused a stir in the city by hiding miniature statues around Milton Keynes, which have been redeemed for a number of prizes.

In the past rewards have included £100 cash, flights to Europe, VIP nights out, champagne, and exclusive tickets.

This year though, the Theatre District venue is stepping up the competition by offering a hefty £400 cash prize for the lucky finder as well as a VIP suite, bottle of champagne and flights to a European destination.

The diamond encrusted 'blinged out' Buddha statue will be hidden at an undisclosed location in Milton Keynes, traceable by a series of teaser videos set to be released gradually by the venue.

Measuring 15cm tall, this is the biggest of alltreasure hunt Buddhas.

What really makes this one different though is his overstated flashy attire.

A coat of diamante gems adorns the smiling statue and a matching necklace and tooth gem ensure he lives up to his title.

In the past participants have gone to the extremes of faking their own statues but management are confident that this Buddha is unique.

The Buddha's temporary home is only known by two people and will remain top secret.

Robin Lyle, general manager of Buddha Blue, said: "The hidden Buddhas have proven very popular in the past, so the search is back on."

For more information about Buddha Blue and what's on visit www.buddhablue.co.uk, call 01908 241243 or text 'bblue' to 07800003282.

■ Today MK NEWS can reveal the first exclusive clue: A theatre without actors? Where am I?

Three more clues will be revealed each week on the Buddha Blue website or by texting 'bblue' to 07800003282 (free) for the venue's new mini website.

Bad manners: The flashy Buddha

Doctors' surgeries to stay open longer

DOCTORS' surgeries across the city are to open for longer hours.

The move has been taken in response to a series of surveys which showed that people in Milton Keynes are dissatisfied with the opening hours of their GP surgery.

The city's Primary Care Trust (PCT) has negotiated with 21 of the borough's 27 practices to open later in the evening or, in some cases, on a Saturday morning.

Some practices will open from 7am and others will stay open until 9.15pm.

Practices are phasing in these new arrangements between now and the end of December.

The trust's director of contracts, Tom Wilson, said: "These new arrangements cover the vast majority of our residents and we will be working hard with the six practices who have not yet signed up to the new arrangements to do so over the coming months."

■ To find out the opening times for your GP practice call the practice directly or go to www.miltonkeynes.nhs.uk

BLETCHLEY SHINE A LIGHT!

Christmas Lights Switch-On in Bletchley

Saturday 22nd November 2008
4 pm in Stanier Square, Bletchley
A festive day for the local community

The Town Council is pleased to present a festive day for the local community on Saturday 22nd November 2008. The main Activities will be taking place in Stanier Square in Bletchley Town Centre. From early in the morning there will be childrens' fairground rides and music from an old time musical organ to add to the atmosphere. Helen Legh (Radio Presenter from Three Counties Radio) will be presenting on the day, with help from Jon Gregory, from mid day onwards. Furzton Scout Group and Eaton Mill School will be singing carols so come along and join in, all welcome. Ice Gems Cheerleaders and street dancers from Leon School will be performing and this year we are pleased that Natalie Chua (local singing celebrity) will be performing live in the lead up to the switch-on.
Festive music is to be provided by Woburn Sands Silver Band in Stanier Square and MK Acapella (barber shop harmony group) will be playing on the Bandstand in Elizabeth Square.
The lights are to be switched on by Father Christmas, together with the Mayor of Milton Keynes Jan Lloyd, at 4:00 pm in Central Bletchley (Stanier Square).
Tesco in the community are supporting our event by sending volunteers to help on the day and together with the Town Council will be providing treats for the children.
Following the switch-on of the lights, Festive Road (supported by the Town Council) will be presenting a wonderful lantern parade from Queensway through Central Bletchley and into Fenny Stratford. Workshops have been held in the lead up to this event and local school children, parents and residents have been busy making their lanterns. This is the second year the lantern parade has been held and the local community are looking forward to watching the parade wind its way through the town centre.
Further to the lights switch-on the Town Council has arranged for local band Fenny Stompers Rhythm & Reeds to play along Queensway on Saturday 13th and 20th December 2008 to add to the festive atmosphere while you do your shopping in Bletchley Town Centre.

A nice touch for centre shoppers

SHOPPERS are only a touch away from the latest technology.

thecentre:mk and local software company Interdirect have launched the next generation of technology for shoppers.

The £3million project across the centre will bring shoppers information on the latest store news and offers, events within the centre, and retailer job vacancies all updated in real-time, as well as acting as a navigation tool and store finder.

Robert Goodman, centre director, for thecentre:mk said: "This is fantastic news for thecentre:mk.

"The new infopod system is one of the most advanced in the UK, allowing shoppers to get up-to-the-minute information on promotions events and stores, incorporating the latest in digital advertising, and improving wayfinding across the centre.

"The installation of this technology system is another phase in our £20million investment in enhancing the centre and will be key to ensuring that we continue to compete as one of the top ten shopping centres in the UK."

Nicholas Mann of Interdirect added: "After a nationwide search it's great that the centre chose to work with local contractors on a project of this scale and we are really proud of the system that is being installed.

Fingertip control: Nicholas Mann of Interdirect and Robert Goodman from the-centre:mk with the first Infopod

"Fourteen touch screens are currently being installed across the centre and they will be fully operational by the end of the month.

"Knowing both thecentre:mk and the industry well, we have made sure that the system is perfect for a shopping centre of its size.

"The infopods and the forthcoming integrated website and intranet have been designed so that we can localise messages to each screen so that shoppers will receive information about offers and events in their immediate vicinity."

Fish stock lecture is no codswallop

A SERIES of lectures started with a fishy theme at Denbigh School last week.

More than 60 students from across the city attended the lecture by Professor Paul Hart from University of Leicester, called Has cod had its chips?.

The lecture, which looked at the decline in cod in the North Sea and the likely reasons why, is the first of a year-long weekly series at the school.

Other sessions by academics from universities such as Oxford, Cambridge and Warwick University will look at current scientific trends and research issues that affect everyone's lives.

They will include subjects as diverse as the solar system, how and why we need sleep, old and new risk factors for heart disease and the science of chocolate.

Deputy headteacher at Denbigh School, Andy Squires, said: "This is the third year that Denbigh School has organised these lectures. They offer a fantastic opportunity for students to hear about scientific developments at the cutting edge.

"All the lecture topics have been chosen carefully so that they build on, and extend elements of the GCSE and A Level programmes of study. The lectures are not just for Denbigh students, however, invitations have also gone out to other secondary schools in Milton Keynes so all students studying at this level can benefit."

On the road to success

FOUR students from The Hazeley School have just become the youngest ever to have been awarded a Logistics Level II Certificate from the Institute of Logistics.

Sumra Khalid, Danielle Newby, Stuart Casey and Juhi Patel (pictured from left to right) started working towards the certificate when they were in Year 9 and had completed the course by the end of Year 10 at the ages of 14 and 15 - they achieved this one year earlier than anyone else in the UK.

Logistics is the sixth biggest industry in the country and is a very large employer locally. The certificate has traditionally been taken by business employees but has recently been extended to school students.

Vanessa Stanley, deputy head teacher who teaches the certificate said, "The Hazeley School is one of only six schools in the UK offering students the opportunity to take this Certificate. We believe the knowledge learnt within the course instils business skills that are invaluable in the logistics sector and indeed in all sectors of industry."

The school opened in September 2005 with year 7 and 8 pupils and is on course to reach a capacity of 1500, age 11-18 pupils by 2010. It has already gained the accolade of an Outstanding OFSTED report in 2006, achieved within the first 18 months of its opening.

Arts student just grand

Tamsin Ryder: Received the Sir Peter Thompson Award 2008

£1,000 award will pay uni tuition fees

A PERFORMING arts student has been given a helping hand to start university next year.

Tamsin Ryder, 17, who attends Stantonbury Campus has received the Sir Peter Thompson Award 2008, granted annually to a Milton Keynes performing or visual arts secondary school student.

The £1,000 grant is to be presented by Roy Nevitt, chairman of the Milton Keynes Theatre & Gallery Company, at Milton Keynes Theatre tonight.

Tamsin, from Crosshills, Stony Stratford will use the money to help fund her first year's tuition fees at university.

She is currently studying a BTEC in Performing Arts and has appeared in various productions at Stantonbury including My Fair Lady and Little Shop of Horrors.

She has just filled out her application form to study drama at university next September.

"I was really surprised when I found out I had been chosen, it is a real boost for my confidence," she said.

Trevor Harris, arts college manager at Stantonbury Campus, said: "Tamsin is an outstanding student who has thrown her heart and soul into the life of Stantonbury's artistic community. She is fully deserving of this award."

Sir Peter Thompson was the chairman of Milton Keynes Theatre & Gallery Company during the building and start-up of those venues.

Youngsters with big ideas wanted

YOUNG entrepreneurs with big ideas are called to take part in a project like BBC's The Apprentice.

Those aged between 13 to 19 can pitch ideas that could benefit the community to a panel of judges for the chance to gain funding.

The scheme, called What's the Big Idea?, will be launched tomorrow by the Community Safety Partnership, Youth Service Participation Team; MaD (Make a Difference); Milton Keynes Community Enterprise and Milton Keynes Council.

Applicants will be asked to submit a project proposal and if selected by the judging panel will be asked to 'pitch' their idea for the chance to double their money, winning up to £1,000.

The proposals must demonstrate how the idea will benefit the community and fit in to one of five categories including environment, community involvement, safety, culture/arts and media.

The scheme will be launched at 4pm tomorrow at Acorn House, Central Milton Keynes and all projects must be submitted by February 13, 2009.

The judging panel will then decide on which ten groups will go through to the final round.

The finalists will be awarded £500 towards making their project happen and will go head-to-head against other applicants to bid for a further £500.

The project has received £6,500 from Awards for All, the Community Safety Partnership and the extended services department of Milton Keynes Council.

MUSIC REVIEWS

THE VAGUE ARCHIVE
Grammatics

This is a proper song of two halves, both of them mental.

The first half is well above-average indie rock, complete with pianos, guitars and cellos (yes, cellos) while the second is much slower and puts the aforementioned cello on a much more level playing field with the other instruments.

They really shouldn't get away with this sort of thing, but however daft you may think it is from what I've just written, it's still well worth a listen.

It would be nice to hear more from this lot in the future.

GREATEST DAY
Take That

AND so the unstoppable Take That juggernaut rolls on, just like that of New Kids On The Block – the difference being that Take That's didn't leave the road and tumble over the edge of a cliff.

I thought this was supposed to be a tender love song from the band to their other halves but, from watching the video, I now realise I've got it all wrong.

You see, in the video they're standing on the top of a skyscraper like you do and the sky's very orange indeed which must be to put the viewer in the mood.

Now, unlike Boyzone they're not going for the strictly choreographed dance moves these days. No, this lot do whatever feels right.

One shakes his head (not in disapproval, thankfully), another one shakes his hands around a bit (perhaps the dryer in the gents wasn't working), Gary Barlow pours his heart out and Mark Owen wears a hat. Nobody's going to tell these guys what to do.

We will return to Gary Barlow in a moment, but first the song. It's a bit epic, isn't it? If you've heard it, you'll probably agree and if you haven't, just say yes.

It's all how great today could be ('the greatest day of our lives' and 'stay close to me') and it's all set against the kind of grand, majestic, sweeping melody that Scooter might've heard once.

It's a huge towering love song, it makes Back For Good sound like it wasn't really trying. If you've got a huge, towering love song you're going to need to sing it on top of a huge, towering building in the video, so you see the storyline practically wrote itself.

At least, until I saw it and realised I had this song completely wrong.

You see, surrounding the Take That building are loads of even taller skyscrapers and Gary Barlow is singing to the skyscrapers.

THAT was the moment when I came to the conclusion that Take That were singing about their undying devotion towards large-scale construction projects.

It's more than that, though, it's a song tinged with sadness.

'Before it all ends, before we run out of time', warbles Gary – and now it's a love song to a skyscraper that's facing demolition. He knows how to tug on the heartstrings, that boy.

Mind you, that's not all. Towards the end, hundreds of tiny spots of light start flying around the sky, which makes the occasion a massive missed opportunity for the Most Haunted team because they've probably been waiting for years for something like that and where were they instead? Some 18th Century ruin in Somerset I shouldn't wonder.

They'd be gutted if they knew.

The whole thing's done with the sort of professionalism you'd expect from one of the few boybands to survive long past their supposed sell-by date and the song dstands head and shoulders and about 35 floors higher than most pop songs.

The skyscraper theory actually improves the song for me.

FILM REVIEW: ZACK & MIRI MAKE A PORNO

WELL in these days of credit crunch we all need to make an extra pound or two.

I have these occasional ideas about money making schemes.

One of my favourites was to have a ring tone that played the dum, dum, dum bit at the end of Eastenders so that whenever you had something dramatic to say to someone you could play your tone, like 'you're dumped baby' – dum, dum, dum etc.

Suffice to say the BBC was unimpressed.

Zack and Miri (two friends from childhood) face similar financial issues and, rather than crass ideas about soap opera ring tones, come up with the idea of making their own porn film.

The film follows their attempts to make the aforementioned naughty flick and, as they attempt to cast the film, they meet an array of bizarre characters and, of course, are gradually drawn towards a romance of their own.

So will they make their film, will they make big bucks, will they find true love through cinematic filth and will the audience get to see any rude bits?

The answers to these questions I would of course not give away at this point but I think you can guess most of them.

The film pulls no punches.

It knows its being over the top and it goes for it without shame.

I didn't love it in the way I loved Kevin Smith's (the director) films about Jay and Silent Bob, but it's good unclean fun and will, I'm sure, be an inspiration to you owners of video cameras everywhere.

JOHN OTWAY
and his BIG BAND
Plus support
Saturday, November 22
ON the back of punk rock and a gymnastic performance on The Old Grey Whistle Test, John Otway lauched his music carrer.
He recieved a five album deal with Polydor who thought he was a punk rather than merely eccentric.
His first album, with Wild Willy Barrett, was produced by Pete Townshend but sold only fitfully.
Despite that, his live audience remained loyal, due to Otway's manic energy and the probability of physical injury during renditions of songs such as Headbutts.
John now has a motorcycle club of fans called Beware of the Flowers MCC – Otway fans who ride bikes.
Tickets £10. Doors 7.30pm.

TASTELIFE

Pheasant pot roast, left, followed by sticky toffee pudding, above

Pot pheasant very pleasant

NOVEMBER, that lovely time of the year when the clocks have changed and the nights have drawn in, Halloween and bonfire night have been and gone and so before you start thinking about Christmas think of yourself with this easy pot roast recipe.

Warming, comforting and easy – something to put in the oven and forget about for a while.

A long day at work and all you want to do is get home, close the curtains, shut the cold out and have a long soak while your dinner is cooking and the lovely smells fill the house.

So what's easier than a pot roast?

I have chosen pheasant, but almost anything can be used, chicken, beef, pork whatever you like to eat.

I like to serve pot roast with lovely crispy potatoes and buttered savoy cabbage but, again, whatever vegetables you have to hand or what you like to make it easier.

The dish can be make the day before and sat in the fridge once it has cool down and then put it in the oven when you get home.

So think of November as a lovely time of year with the wonderful crisp fresh mornings, and cosy evenings at home, and lovely comforting food leaving you content and happy.

EMMA GILCHRIST

PHEASANT POT ROAST

The root vegetables in the recipe absorb the meat flavour which makes them taste lovely.
Serves 6

INGREDIENTS
3 oven ready pheasants
4 onion, peeled and sliced
4 carrots, peeled and sliced
4 sticks celery, cut chunks
2 tbsp vegetable oil
2 pints meat or chicken stock (fresh stock or stock cube is fine)
2 sprigs of thyme
2 bay leaves
8 juniper berries
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
salt and black pepper

METHOD
Pre-heat the oven to 170C.
1. Heat the oil in a thick cooking pot, when it's hot, put in the pheasants and sear and brown them all over. Transfer them to a tray.
2. In the same pot, lightly brown the onions, carrots, celery and then remove them for the moment.
3. Empty all the fat from the pot, then arrange the pheasant and the vegetables around them.
4. Add the stock, bay leaf and thyme. Bring to the simmer and after this happens, cover with foil and with the pot's tightly fitting lid place in the centre of the oven and leave for about 1 _ hours.
5. When ready, place the bird and vegetables on a warm dish cover with foil.
6.Then bring the liquid to the boil and boil briskly until reduced slightly. Mix the butter and flour to a paste, then add this to the liquid and whisk until the sauce thickens. Strain through a sieve. Remove the foil and halve the birds, place on plates with the vegetables spooned on and pour over the reduced sauce.

STICKY TOFFEE PUDDING

Serves 6

INGREDIENTS
250g dates, pitted and chopped
375ml water
1/2 heaped tsp bicarbonate of soda
75g unsalted butter
200g caster sugar
300g plain flour
1/2 heaped tsp baking powder
2 eggs
75g chopped fudge (packet in wrappers is fine if that's all you can find.)
ice cream or double cream to serve

Method
1. Preheat the oven to 170C/gas 3.
2. Grease a medium sized baking dish or tin or muffin tin.
3. Place the dates and water in a pan with the bicarbonate of soda and bring to the boil. Remove from the heat and set aside.
4. Mix the butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Sift in the flour and baking powder, stirring gently.
5. Gradually add the eggs, beating well after each addition.
6. Drain the dates (reserving the cooking water) and add to the egg mixture.

THE COMEDY CLUB@CITY LIMITS

Thursday, November 27

RELAX and enjoy a night of top comedy with three top comedians from the prestigious comedy circuit.

The evening is being compered by Dave Twentyman, a rising star of north west comedy.

He is followed by Danny Deegan who gives his routines the most sluggish of build-ups, seemingly unperturbed that the laughs aren't instantly forthcoming but when the punchline comes it's well worth the wait.

The headline act is Paul Tonkinson

A professional northerner and celebrity Manchester United fan.

Paul is a star of comedy in all its forms be it on stage, in character or as a TV host, this man does not fail to make you giggle.

Having made his name as host of The Sunday Show, he took an even bigger step into the limelight when he replaced Johnny Vaughan briefly on The Big Breakfast.

He was winner of the Time Out New Act of the Year Award in 1992 and then completed the comedy double when he won Time Out Stand Up Comic of the Year in 1997.

On stage, Paul leads his audience on a guided tour through the differences in male and female logic and can take the mickey out of almost every region in Britain.

Tickets in advance £12, members £10. Over 18s, Doors 7.30pm, showtime 8.30pm.

IT firm joins Duke's Award charity Charter Programme

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

AN IT company has been awarded membership to the The Duke of Edinburgh's Award programme.

Bluecube Technology Solutions, based in North Crawley Road, Newport Pagnell, has been given membership to the charity's Charter Programme in recognition of donating one of the largest sums of money given to the charity for 2008.

The company donated £300,000 earlier this year.

The Duke of Edinburgh's Award (DofE), which supports over 275,000 people aged 14-24 to gain achievement awards every year, presents this membership to companies that have shown commitment to the charity by either financial or physical support.

Bluecube's chief executive, James Hawker said: "For a relatively small firm this is a fantastic achievement for us. It's also helping the continued work in giving Milton Keynes a larger mark on the map."

"Bluecube is proud to support The Duke of Edinburgh's Award as part of its continued commitments to improving the skills of young people in the UK.

"It's a valued attribute to have done a DofE award and we are continually focused to promoting that to Milton Keynes youngsters."

DofE UK services director, Sarah Lindsell said: "Bluecube's support is making a vital difference to our work at a crucial stage of our development.

"Few companies can have had the impact on the future development of a charity than Bluecube will have on The Duke of Edinburgh's Award."

Mr Hawker was invited to Buckingham Palace on September 23 to receive the DofE Charter on behalf of his company, presented by HRH The Earl of Wessex.

Bank and businesses get to grips with economy

Lloyds TSB Commercial gurus Phil Wilson, Leon Barnes and David Atkins

LOCAL businesses have met to discuss the best ways to respond to the toughening economic climate, at an event held by Lloyds TSB Commercial.

Attended by professionals from across the region, the event was held at the bank's business centre in Market Square, Buckingham.

David Atkins and Leon Barnes, relationship managers, highlighted how companies in the area can prepare for an uncertain market.

David and Leon work in the Buckingham branch, supporting Lloyds TSB's growing portfolio of local business customers, from start-ups to established companies.

Phil Wilson, senior manager commercial for the Milton Keynes Area, said: "Now more than ever, the support of a locally-based banking partner can play a crucial role in ensuring companies receive tailored support to match their individual requirements.

"The current economic climate has created more challenging conditions, but many firms in the south east are overcoming these difficulties and continuing to build successful businesses.

"Our team has worked closely with local companies for many years, giving them an in-depth understanding of the issues they face. The event was a great opportunity for local firms to network with like-minded individuals and share experiences."

Bullying still rife in the workplace

BULLYING in the workplace is still too high and employers in East Anglia are accused of failing to tackle the issue effectively, according to a recent report.

The study, published by the Chartered Management Institute, suggests that poor management skills lie at the heart of the problem and warns organisations in East Anglia to educate their staff or risk long term damage to business performance.

Against a backdrop of Government figures estimating that workplace bullying costs the UK economy £13.75 billion, with 100 million days of productivity lost per year, the new report also argues that employers in the region are failing in their legal duty to protect staff.

Bullying at work:the experience of managers, is based on the views of managers and leaders across the public, private and voluntary sectors.

Key findings include:

*Seventy per cent of managers claim to have witnessed instances of bullying in the past three years.

*Of those experiencing bullying in the region, one in three (30 per cent) report that no action was taken by their organisation.

The institute's latest study draws comparisions with a similar report published in 2005.

On a five point scale, individuals gave their employer a score of 2.37 when asked the extent of bullying in their organisation – up from 2.25 three years ago.

Those in the public sector, particularly have seen the highest level of bullying (2.60).

Asked to identify the root causes of bullying at work in East Anglia, the top answer given was a 'lack of management skills (70 per cent).

Respondents also cited 'personality clashes' (52 per cent) and 'authorisation management styles' (42 per cent) as critical factors.

Jo Causon, director, marketing and corporate affairs at the Chartered Management Institute said: "In the current economic climate the pressure to deliver is more acute than ever, but the need to perform should not be seen as an excuse to bully.

"Now more than ever, the ability of the UK's managers and leaders to set a good example is paramount."

The report shows that more than half of respondents in East Anglia are concerned about their employer's inability to deal with their problem.

Thirty per cent in the region feel that their organisation is ineffective when it comes to deterring bullying.

A further 23 per cent in East Anglia argue that their employer fails to deal with specific incidents.

Competitive rates of pay and training willbe given.

The publisher also declines responsibility for the omission of a single advertisement or one or more of a series of advertisements from any cause whatsoever, nor do they accept liability for any loss or damage caused by an error or inaccuracy in the printing of an advertisement. (Advertisers are advised to check their advertisement after the insertion). No re-insertions refund or adjustment will be made where an error, mis-print or omission does not materially detract from the advertisement. The Publisher may at its sole discretion re-insert the whole or part of the advertisement with corrections or refund part or the whole value of the advertisement.
2. The publisher reserves the right to decline any advertisement without giving an explanation or which they deem the content unsuitable for publication, whether an order has been accepted or not. The publisher will not accept orders for advertisements which it deems offensive or defamatory or which infringe the Trades Description Act 1968 and The British Code of Advertising Standards Authority on such matters.
3. An order for advertising services placed by an advertiser or an advertising agency on behalf of an advertiser constitutes an assurance that necessary authorisation or permission has been granted in respect of the use of the advertisement itself, pictorial representation of a living person, references made and words attributed to a living person and text which may be the subject of copyright protection.
4. Printed conditions on advertisement orders will not be recognised as binding unless expressly accepted in writing by the publishers.
5. Advertising rates involving a series, volume or prepayment discount are expressly for the use of the advertiser concerned and are not to divulged to a third party.
6. All artwork designed by the LSN Studio remains the property of LSN Media. Where artwork services are provided, it is on the understanding that it is for the sole use in any of the LSN Media publications unless prior agreement is sought, any unauthorised reproduction will result in a charge being levied on the publisher concerned.
7. Proofs of advertisements are provided upon request but cannot be guaranteed. Where a proof is supplied, the onus is on the recipient to check that all information is correct and to provide the publisher with any necessary alterations or amendments before the expiration of the deadline. The publisher will not accept responsibility for errors in any advertisement where a proof is supplied and subsequently authorised for publication.
8. Although every effort will be made to meet advertisers requirements, specified positions cannot be guaranteed within the newspaper.
9. All advertisements which carry a premium telephone number must comply with the Code of Practice of The Independent Committee for the supervision of Standards of Telephone Information Services (CSTIS).
10. The advertiser (or his advertising agency) shall indemnify the publisher in respect of all costs, damages or any other charges as the result of legal action or the threat of legal action arising from the publisher of a single advertisement for a series of advertisements, published in accordance with copy instructions supplied to the publisher in pursuance of the advertiser or his advertising agency's order.
11. If an advertisement does not appear due to copy or artwork being supplied after the agreed deadline, the space will be payable in full at the published rates.
12. A request to insert an advertisement assumes acceptance of our Terms & Conditions of Advertising.

DISTRIBUTION
1. Unless otherwise stated, distribution will normally take place within the specified publication to the individual addresses which usually receive the publication within the area and on the date scheduled. This does not necessarily imply 100% delivery to all addresses within the area.
2. The publisher shall not be liable for total or partial non delivery of any publication in which an advertisement is scheduled to appear and no reinsertion, refund or adjustment will be made to the advertiser.

BOX NUMBERS
While every endeavour will be made to forward replies to box numbers to the advertiser as soon as possible, no liability will be accepted by the publisher in respect of any loss, damage or delay in forwarding such replies.

CANCELLATION
1. Cancellation of advertisements must be advised 24 hours prior to the booking deadline. If the publisher is unable to resell the space he reserves the right to charge for any loss of revenue incurred.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.
The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.
Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it†.
No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Save money servicing your car
VW, AUDI, SEAT, SKODA
Our customers come from all over the country because of our good name and personal service where they can speak to the engineer working on their car. Our work is second to none and they still save up to 50% on main dealer prices
Our workshop is not housed behind a flashy reception area where you hand your keys over and your car disappears not to be seen again until you pay your bill.
We run an open workshop where the customer is shown what's wrong with their car and you can discuss the solutions with the engineer.
Our workshop carry's the latest VAG approved equipment including
- VAG approved computer diagnostics
- VAG approved four wheel alignment
- Tyre fitting and computerised balancing
- Air conditioning services
- VAG trained technicians
- Reception with broadband access
We offer a full range of tuning services including engine tuning and track day preparation.

Fourth – it's magic!

HARTLEPOOL UNITED 1

MK DONS 3
Lewington 37, Wright 39, Powell 90

BY SIMONE CORGAN
simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

FOUR was the magic number when MK Dons beat Hartlepool United at the weekend.

Dons recorded their fourth consecutive league win, the best run under Roberto Di Matteo, and it sent them fourth in League One.

It was also the first time in the Dons' four visits to Victoria Park that they have taken three points.

An incredibly tight table has sixth placed Leeds, occupying the last play-off spot, four points behind league leaders Scunthorpe, while the Dons are just two points off the top.

While most are already pulling up their sleeves prepared for a promotion scrap boss Di Matteo is not getting carried away just yet.

He said: "We're up there, it's nice to pick up a few points, we can be happy."

There were certainly three members of the Dons squad who went back down the motorway smiling from ear to ear.

Dean Lewington, Mark Wright and debutant Daniel Powell all opened their accounts in the 3-1 win over Hartlepool.

Though the home side were left feeling aggrieved due to the dismissal of their captain Sam Collins on 26 minutes.

Collins, already cautioned, was shown a straight red for a tussle with Jemal Johnson and Di Matteo said he felt the decision was 'a bit harsh'.

There is no denying it helped the Dons break through as they had been pressurised by Danny Wilson's side.

Lewington took everyone by surprise, including himself, when he nestled a right-footed wonder strike into the net on the 37th minute.

It was Lewington's first goal for the Dons since February 2007, the left back said: "Scoring with the right was pretty vintage I have to say. I probably should have hit it with my left foot but I checked back inside, had a go with the right and it just kept going up and up.

"I didn't think it would even reach the goal to be honest, they don't normally when I use my right foot."

Two minutes later Wright added his name to the score sheet when he bundled over Johnson's cross.

He's top in the statistics for shooting and assists this season but last year's top scorer has found it frustrating in front of goal.

Di Matteo said: "Wrighty just needed a goal to unblock him, and I'm sure he's going to follow up with quite a few."

Without counting in the second half you would never have known Hartlepool were down to ten men.

They found a route back into proceedings within 20 seconds of the restart as an unfortunate Sean O'Hanlon put Kevin Kyle's cross into his own net.

Pool's James Brown had a header comfortably stopped by Willy Gueret but it was 17-year-old Daniel Powell who had the final say with a third Dons goal deep in injury time.

Powell had been on the field for seven minutes, had already felt the physical aspect of League One and capped off his first appearance with a cool finish.

Di Matteo added: "It was an excellent afternoon, I thought it was a great effort by the team and we deserved to win the game."

ROBERTO Di Matteo has been busy in the loan window this week.

The Dons boss has signed a new defender, sent out a striker and renewed a midfielder's loan.

First Di Matteo added West Ham centre back Bondz N'Gala to his squad on a month long deal.

Then veteran striker Kevin Gallen, who has made eight appearances for the Dons this year, joined League Two's Luton Town until the end of December.

While Plymouth loanee Jason Puncheon has extended his stay with the Dons until Decemeber, 28.

MEANWHILE Dons have been hit by an injury blow to Luke Chadwick.

The winger injured his knee in training last week and has returned to Norwich for treatment.

Chadwick's loan with the Dons is due to end in January and they will be hoping he can return to stadiummk before that date.

TWO Dons players have been named in the League One Team of the Week.

Goal scorer Dean Lewington and midfielder Peter Leven were given a place in the division eleven following the side's 3-1 win at Hartlepool.

Team of the Week in full: Clayton Ince (Walsall), Kelvin Lomax (Oldham), Tamika Mkandawire (Leyton Orient), Reuben Hazell (Oldham), Dean Lewington (MK Dons), Robert Snodgrass (Leeds), Marc Bridge-Wilkinson (Carlisle), Peter Leven (MK Dons), Chris Taylor (Oldham), Steve Guinan (Hereford), Aaron Mclean (Peterborough).

MK Dons have unveiled a special ticket promotion for the match against Scunthorpe United.

The Dons, in conjunction with MK NEWS, are offering four tickets for just £20.

The four tickets can include as many adults or children as you require, but the offer is limited to four tickets per person ordering.

To take advantage of the special offer, supporters must book online via www.mkdons.com - terms and conditions do apply for the offer and can be found on the Dons' official website.

PREVIEWS

WALSALL
League One
Saturday, November 22
Banks's Stadium KO 3pm

A SECOND away match on the bounce beckons for Roberto Di Matteo's men.

Not that it's a problem for the Dons who have won five of their eight games on the road while Walsall have slipped up three times on their own turf.

The Saddlers have Trinidad and Tobago international Claydon Ince between the sticks and Anthony Gerrard, the cousin of England and Liverpool midfielder Steven, in defence yet they have still conceded 12 goals at home.

Leading their attack is former Bolton striker Michael Ricketts who has eight goals this season, while Jabo Ibehre has five and Troy Deeney has two.

Walsall will be without the suspended Ishmel Demontagnac.

HEREFORD UNITED
League One
Tuesday, November 25
stadiummk KO 7.45pm

HEREFORD were automatically promoted to League One alongside the Dons and Peterborough.

But so far they have failed to match the form both Dons and Posh have found in the new league.

A 3-0 win over Cheltenham at the weekend ended a run of three successive defeats for Hereford but they still remain third from bottom and three points from safety.

Last season the Bulls came to stadiummk in April and held the Dons to their first goalless draw of the season.

Willy Gueret reclaimed his place in goal against Hartlepool and is expected to remain the first choice keeper.

Bounce-back Lightning shoot down the Flames

ICE HOCKEY

MK LIGHTNING 2
WIGHTLINK RAIDERS 3

GUILDFORD FLAMES 2
MK LIGHTNING 4

LIGHTNING lost to one of the weaker sides in the English Premier League but bounced back in style with one of the results of the season.

Defeat to Wightlink Raiders inspired MK Lightning to a superb away win at Guildford Flames.

The Flames are leading the way in the league and were looking for a fourth successive win but Lightning tore up the form book to take the two points.

Without two star men, Lewis Christie and Adam Radmall, Lightning tore into Guildford to take a 4-0 advantage.

The scoring opened four minutes into the first period when Michael Wales found the net with assists from Matt Towalski and Ales Parez.

Lightning continued to press their hosts and finally doubled their lead when Gary Clarke ended a move by Andre Smulter and Lukas Zatopek.

Just as Guildford looked to be heading into the final quarter with a two goal deficit Lightning added a third.

There were 21 seconds remaining when Andre Smulter gave Milton Keynes a commanding lead.

Parez once again hit the target a minute into the final period as Lightning seemed to be heading for a comfortable win.

But Guildford set up a tense ending with two late consolation goals coming from Vaclav Zavoral and Taras Foremsky.

It was a terrific result for Nick Poole's side and a performance that could spark a consistent run in the league.

As good as the two points were some gloss would have been taken off by the home defeat a day earlier at the hands of Wightlink.

Lightning were chasing the game throughout after Juraj Rusic's power play goal on ten minutes, though Zatopek levelled in the closing stages of the first period.

The sides remained locked in the second, then Wightlink took a grip in the third.

Shawn Mole latched on to Adam Brittle's assist in another power play to restore their advantage before Bradley Watchorn made it 3-1 to the visitors with 47 minutes played. Lightning came close to taking the game into overtime when Chris McEwen scored with six minutes remaining but the equaliser never came.

They may not have given their home fans a win to remember but the travelling support at Guildford were treated to one of Lightning's best displays this season.

■ MK Lightning are at home to Romford Raiders on Saturday, face-off 7pm, then they travel to Sheffield Scimitars on Sunday, face-off at 5.30pm.

Lions hope new signing gets the points

BASKETBALL

A RARE weekend off proved to be the last thing MK Lions needed as they look to get their season back on track.

The Lions have won just three games and the five defeats so far has left them third from bottom in the league.

However, coach Vince Macaulay is not too downbeat about the situation because he believes a new signing could be key to a change in fortunes for his side.

After assessing the performance of the squad eight games into the season Macaulay released Carl McNally from his contract and brought in shooting guard Jayson Obazuaye.

Macaulay, who signed McNally in the summer, says the change will be the improvement he is looking for.

"Well we are approaching about a quarter of the way through the season and while we have had a bad run, I am not terribly disappointed with the way we are playing, more that I have had to address some of the moves we made in the summer.

Macaulay added: "Our defence has generally been very very good, our difficulty has been scoring with any consistency, this has been addressed with the signing of Jayson Obazuaye.

"He will become the fulcrum of our offensive thoughts which will enable the others on the team to hit the target. So far this season we have had Terrell Brown and Yorick Williams drawing the defence whilst the others have not quite been able to click, we needed a little more directness and ruthlessness which I feel Jayson will bring."

The Lions will be able to test out their new look side this Friday when Worcester Wolves head to Bletchley Leisure Centre.

Wolves are eighth in the table but they are level on six points with the Lions.

Macaulay added: "Looking around at the other teams across the League there are no teams we should be worried about. Our strategies have been spot on and we feel we can nullify what they bring. We will monitor the next few games and see what the change has done and the impact of that. Our goals remain the same, to get home advantage in the play-offs and to contest major finals."

■ LIONS face Worcester Wolves this Friday, tip-off is at 7.30pm.

Bletchley blitzed as rampaging Reading run riot

RUGBY

SOUTH WEST TWO EAST DIVISION

LEADERS Reading ran riot with a crushing 57-0 victory over Bletchley who plummeted to ninth in the table.

Reading, unbeaten this season, spent plenty of time trying to break down the Bletchley defence but when they did the flood gates opened.

Bletchley battled hard in the opening 40 minutes to restrict their hosts to just eight points.

An early penalty handed Reading a three point lead but Bletchley could have taken the advantage when two Phil Harman penalties struck the posts and a drop goal fell just short.

After relentless pressure Reading finally crossed the line five minutes before the break.

The effort Bletchley used in the first half left them running on empty in the second.

First Reading dominated in the pack allowing them to push over for two tries then Bletchley's handling became sloppy as another try for the hosts came from an interception.

Bletchley conceded seven converted tries in the second half, three of which came in the last five minutes as they crashed to their heaviest defeat of the season.

This Saturday, Bletchley play host to Hinkley in the Intermediate Cup at Manor Fields.

■ A LATE show from Olney was not enough to prevent a fourth successive league defeat.

Towbridge won on their home turf 12-7.

The first half was a closely fought contest and Olney were dealt an early blow when winger Will Edwards came off after six minutes due to injuries.

The home side scored the only try of the first half to take a 5-0 advantage in at the break.

Olney threatened to get on the score sheet numerous times but it was Towbridge who added a converted try.

A number of changes were made by Olney, including the introduction of Tom Taylor-Davis who crashed over knocking Trowbridge's fly half and inside centre out of the way in the process to register Olney's only try.

Richard James converted but it was too late for Olney to take something from the game.

SOUTHERN COUNTIES NORTH

MILTON Keynes remained level at the top on points following a 23-15 win over Bicester.

The closely fought league has three teams tied on 16 points at the summit.

Buckingham, Marlow and MK have all won eight games and lost one.

Andy White slotted three penalties in the first half to give MK a slender 9-6 lead.

The tries came after the break with Andrew Poole and Daniel Pearson both crossing the line, while White successfully converted.

In response Bicester could only manage five penalty kicks.

SPORTSSHORTS

Local football

TWO wins in a week have sent New Bradwell St Peter fifth in the Molten Spartan South Midlands division one.

They beat London Colney 5-0 midweek then recorded a 2-1 win at Sun Postal Sports.

Buckingham Athletic lost 3-1 to Arlesey Athletic, while Ampthill Town handed Stony Stratford Town a 3-1 defeat.

Olney Town suffered a 4-0 loss at the hands of AFC Dunstable in division two and Mursley United were thrashed 5-1 by Bucks Students Union.

Newport Pagnell moved into third place in the United Counties Premier division with a 3-1 win at league leaders Deeping Rangers. James Fletcher, Danny Nichols and Matt Broomes were all on target for the Swans.

Midweek the side also moved into the last eight of the League Cup after a 2-1 win over Eynesbury.

Formula One shrinking

FORMULA One will not be returning to Canada next year.

Officials have failed to reach an agreement to reinstate Montreal's Grand Prix to the 2009 calendar.

It means no North American races will take place next season the United States Grand Prix had already been dropped.

China are also reportedly considering pulling out of the schedule.

Driverless golfer

GOLFER Ian Poulter withdrew from the Singapore Open last week after his driver was stolen.

Woburn-based Poulter pulled out of the tournament when he was told the replacement driver would not arrive in time.

At the time of the Open the 32-year-old was ranked 25th in the world and he would have been up against Phil Mickelson, Padraig Harrington and Ernie Els. It's disappointing as I did not come all this way not to play," he said.

"But with so many world ranking points at stake, if I played badly I may have lost ground."

The prize fund for the Singapore Open was £3.2m.

Robertson in for Euros

NATHAN Robertson has been named in England's side for the badminton European Team Championships.

The MK based player will go to the tournament, which 32 nations have signed up for, with new partner Jenny Wallwork to compete in the mixed doubles.

The competition will take place at the Echo Arena Liverpool in February and England have been seeded second behind holders Denmark.

Robertson will be closing in on his 100th cap when he heads to Liverpool, having reached 92 in last week's 5-0 victory over Poland at Swindon when he partnered Anthony Clark in men's doubles.

Dove's fledglings fly high

Talented academy players knocking on first team door

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

THE future of MK Dons is bright due to an academy budding with talent.

Three academy players have made first team appearances this season, while Sam Baldock was the first product to star for the senior team.

Aside from a recent injury Baldock has been the first choice striker while Adam Chicksen, David King and Daniel Powell have made their debuts under Roberto Di Matteo.

The man who is responsible for the Dons youngsters is Mike Dove who admitted feeling like a 'proud Dad' when Powell, 17, scored against Hartlepool in his first run out with the senior squad.

He said: "What we've achieved so far has been fantastic so I'm quite excited about what we can do in the future. I believe there are many more exciting adventures to come."

Dove's official role is the Director of Youth under that umbrella he oversees the academy, has a hand in the development of players from eight-years-old up to the under 18s, who he also coaches.

Chicksen, 17, Powell and King, who is currently injured, train twice a week with first team regulars including Dean Lewington, Peter Leven and Aaron Wilbraham.

It's a double-edged sword for Dove while there is a sense of pride that the hard work to make players stars is paying off, there is also a gap in his squad for the FA Youth Cup game at Leicester on Saturday.

So it leaves a number of 15 to 17-year-olds to hold their own which Dove ultimately feels helps build their character.

"We're very young compared to other academies," Dove, who was with Wimbledon for two years and since had five years with MK Dons, added, "Our two fullbacks at the moment are 15-years-old and they're playing against boys who are 19. My aim is to get these players through the system."

Fans who saw a brief glimpse of Powell at Victoria Park will be hoping another cameo at Walsall is on the cards.

As the man who has seen Luton-born Powell week in, week out Dove says the promising starlet can bring plenty to the promotion-pushing Dons.

"You look at him, he'll take on three players and you think 'how has he still got the ball?'

"He's big, strong, powerful. People are surprised at how quick he is, we know he's quite an athlete.

"Suddenly he's got some confidence, I think he's starting to realise his strengths."

Amongst the sparkling crop of players are second year apprentices Daniel Delderfield and keeper Kurt Fox.

Then hidden in the first years is Charlie Collins who was called up to the Republic of Ireland under 18s squad last year.

"I've always believed in the academy, the chairman has, I know we've got great talent, I can see that. We're very competitive, the standards are improving every year."

The pool of hungry, eager players down the ranks can only be good news for MK Dons Football Club and their supporters.

Dons go with Flo

TORE Andre Flo is set to come out of retirement to play for MK Dons.

MK NEWS can exclusively reveal the ex-Chelsea striker is in talks to sign for the Dons where he will be reunited with former team mates Roberto Di Matteo and Eddie Newton.

The 6ft 4ins Norwegian international hung up his boots in March this year.

However, Flo spent time with the Dons in pre-season in the summer and is back training with the squad.

Yesterday he was working with fitness coach Ade Mafe.

Flo would bring great experience to the side having spent time with Rangers, Sunderland, Italian side Siena and more recently Leeds United.

But it was in his three year spell at Stamford Bridge where Flo made his name.

The 35-year-old made 163 appearances for Chelsea and scored 50 goals.

In a career spanning 16 years Flo made over 500 senior appearances, scoring 189 goals, the Cowshed will have their fingers crossed that he can add to that tally during his time at stadiummk.

Dons are hoping the deal can be made in time for Flo to be included in the squad to travel to Walsall this Saturday.

He could be signed on a pay-as-you-play basis.
